Introducing part 5 of Claire Adams' new hot sports romance series... Jenn, convinced against her better judgment to go to a party at the Phi Kappa frat house, finds her horrible evening turning into something special when she meets Devon Sealy, a legend even among the legendary partiers of his frat and the star on the school basketball team. After losing her virginity to him, however, she discovers that Devon's reputation isn't just a party-loving jock who sleeps around, but also as a master manipulator who drops girls as soon as he gets what he wants from them. Torn, she tries to find a way to talk to him--but is shocked when she finds him in a compromising position.
