Clara and David Harris looked like the perfect couple. They were both successful orthodontists with a growing practice, a luxury mansion, and three beautiful children. After years of marriage, a rift formed between the two in the form of a sexy receptionist named Gail Bridges. Clara would go onto suspect her husband of having an affair with the beautiful secretary and have her fears confirmed by a private investigator. Her mind filled with rage, Clara would run her cheating husband down with her Mercedes-Benz. The story would draw national media attention from Fox News to the Oprah Winfrey Show. There were too many salacious details to ignore; marital infidelity, a scorned woman and rumors of lesbianism. This is the story of what took place in the rich and privileged world of Clara and David Harris.
