In 17th century London, Mourie Voidess is overwhelmed by the social restrictions pressed upon her as a woman of age. Her father will have her married to a man she hates and she cannot seem to find a way around it, until a mysterious stranger catches her eye. Morgan Delano is everything she could have imagined in a match, yet he is also a man with a terrible secret. Willing to choose the love of this handsome yet unnatural man over her human life, she is thrown head first into a dark world controlled by power and blood, a world where the humanity she once took for granted is very difficult to cling to.
