Saturnine has regrets. Sometimes, she wishes she could go back and do things differently. Don't we all? She just found out that she can. Thanks to the good people at Kronotastic Inner Journeys, Saturnine is about to "retrexprience" the unresolved circumstances of her last relationship. Hopefully, as she regresses into the past within her own chronological perception, she'll be able to figure out what went wrong and finally get over it. However, time paradoxes and probability theory can really get in the way of closure. Whether in the past, present, or future, life never does turn out as planned...
