Faith, Hope and Love... We get it, right? They are important. But sometimes they feel so intangible. How are we supposed to relate? What do we do with our faith through suffering? Why is hope even included in the "top three"? What does extravagant love really look like? In this book Jen dives deep into Faith, Hope and Love as revealed through the lives of some incredible women of the Bible. Their lives point us to the heart of God for women. Through them we see a God who cherishes, strengthens, commissions, commends, esteems and cannot help but love us! "This book is filled with life-giving insight into the lives of some remarkable women in the Bible. From the very introduction you will be drawn into the pages of this amazing book and be personally inspired to reach for a new level of relationship with God, and to achieve more through every season of your life. Jen's insights into these Biblical women and her amazing communication skills will leave you wanting to read more. An incredible book and a must-read not just for women but for everyone wanting to understand how God sees and uses women since the very beginning." Pastors Paul and Maree de Jong, Senior Leaders, LIFE
