This is a sweet western romance with no explicit scenes. Victoria doesn't agree with her mother's ambition to marry her to an upper-class man. The city lifestyle is very boring to her. She cannot stand anymore these 'gentlemen' and their good manners, always trying to please others. She needs someone honest that would see her as more than a pretty face. She needs adventure. So when she discovers Antonio's matrimonial advert in a newspaper, she doesn't hesitate to reply. He is a rancher and he is all she was looking for in a man. But will she still give Antonio a chance after finding out his secret?
