On the suggestion of her cousin, Marianne takes a temporary position in Lord Linford's country home. Being a maid at a house party is not easy, especially one as naughty as this one. Dodging a lusty Lord, and trying her best to stay true to her husband, Marianne takes refuge behind a curtain in the library as an erotic masquerade ball takes place throughout the rest of the house. Confined there, Marianne regrets not having tasted any of the wicked pleasures all around her. Will she get another chance?
