It's the end of the bloodiest war in American history. President Lincoln has just been assassinated and the search is on for the killers.

There's a large reward for those involved and the path leads Federal soldiers to a farm near Manassas, Virginia. Miss Betsy Joy Pokorney is being interrogated but they don't believe her. As they prepare to burn her home, Jacob Pokorney returns after being away for four long years only to find his parents dead and his sister missing. Nobody expects what happens next. A sole letter from a dead soldier's pocket leads Jacob to the author's door in Dexter, Michigan. And thus begins a most unusual journey and the healing of the country one person at a time.
